Introduction to Databases

Homework 4: All Tracks

Overview

- There are two parts to HW 4:
 - 4a : Written questions
 - 4b: A common set of practical tasks for both the programming and non-programming tracks.
- HW 4 does not have separate assignments for the programming and non-programming tracks.

Homework 4b has the following tasks:

1. Create a new schema `<uni>_S22_classic_models_star`. Replace `<uni>` with your UNI.
2. You will create a star schema using the data from your Classic Models database.
 - The fact in the fact table is of the form `(productCode, quantityOrders, priceEach, orderedData, customerNumber)`.
 - The dimensions are:
 - `date_dimension: year, quarter, month, day of the month.`
 - `location_dimension: region, country, city.` The zip file contain a file `country_region.csv` that provides the mapping of countries to regions.
 - `product_dimension: product_scale, product_line, product_vendor.`
3. You will write queries that demonstrate:
 - A slice of the data.
 - A dice of the data.
 - A drill-down.
 - A roll-up.

Loading [MathJax]/jax/output/CommonHTML/fonts/TeX/fontdata.js

- The homework is due on 2022-MAY-01 at 11:59 PM. We will post detailed submission instructions on Ed and Gradescope. Your submission format will be PDF and zip copies of this notebook. You must name your files following the instructions we publish.

Data Loading

- Enter and execute your SQL for loading the data into the facts and dimensions table. The source of the information is the Classic Models data.

Queries

- In each of the sections below, define what your query is producing, provide the query and execute to produce the results.

Slice

Explanation: Given the cube of the data with dimensions product_vendor, year and region, we slice on year=2005
